

Hello P6P

Hope you are all ok. I wonder what you have been doing and what was enjoyable? I have been reminding myself how to put pictures on Word and I have clearly forgotten how but hope it makes sense!

Here is a piece of art you could try with things you have at home. You will need:

An empty cereal packet, a toilet roll inner, scissors, glue stick and a pencil.

- 1 Cut one of the main panels of the cereal packet. It's good strong card.
- 2 Draw a heart shape (or any shape) on the card.
- 3 Cut the toilet roll inner into thin circles.
- 4 Start gluing the circles onto your shape making sure that you cover all the edges of the circles so that they stick.
- 5 You could put a message in the middle, for instance if someone's birthday is coming up soon.
- 6 Also, you could colour the shapes.

Hope you enjoy doing this. If that isn't what you fancy doing you could do that game of writing a story, covering up the sentence you have written and passing it to someone else in your house who writes their bit and then covers it up and so on, till you unfold the story and hopefully it's a lot of nonsense.

Fair missing you all and your cheery faces. Hopefully see you soon. Take care.
Mrs Borys
