

Hi Primary 7 (or should I say S1?!),

Well, the time has come for me to say goodbye to all of you. I can hardly believe how quickly your time at Craigroyston Primary has gone!

I'm sure you'll all be feeling different kinds of emotions today. Some of you might feel a bit sad, while others might just feel like it's all a bit surreal, and that's okay! I do hope that you're all feeling (even a little bit) excited about your next adventure in High School. Your teachers that are waiting there for you are so very lucky. I know that you'll all go on to achieve AMAZING things in your new schools & that's because you're all fantastic pupils in so many wonderful ways!

I hope you all know how much I have LOVED being your teacher! I will miss you all LOTS next term when I don't see you at school anymore. I'm hoping that we'll all manage to get together one last time to have a wee reunion or party at some stage but that might not be until next year.

I think it's only fitting that I leave you all with some wise words from good old Professor Albus Dumbledore:

"It is our choices that show what we truly are, far more than our abilities."

I think that that is brilliant advice as it is a great reminder that no matter what you think you'll be good at in your next school, YOU have the power to choose to do the right thing. So, keep making good choices in your next adventure everyone & remember how proud you have all made me. 😊 Thank you all so very much for being such a fun class to teach. It has been a pleasure!

Lots of love,

Mrs Armstrong 😊

Have a lovely Summer break!
